GLOBAL MARKETS & ECONOMIES | WEEKLY ECONOMIC INDICATORS | CURRENCIES | PRECIOUS METAL | O I L |

GLOBAL ECONOMIES	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The IHS Markit/CIPS Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell to 49.5 in February from January's reading of 50.6, the first time the index has been below the 50-mark that separates growth from contraction since unusually icy weather in March 2018. • British Prime Minister Theresa May will on Monday set out plans for a 1.6 billion pound ($2.11 billion) fund to help to boost economic growth in Brexit-supporting communities with ministers denying it was a bribe to win support for her EU exit deal. • Investor morale in the euro zone improved in March, largely due to hopes that an upturn in Asia might help the single currency bloc, a survey showed on Monday. Sentix research group said its investor sentiment index for the euro zone rose to -2.2 from -3.7 in February. • U.S. construction spending unexpectedly fell in December as investment in both private and public projects dropped, further evidence the economy lost momentum at the tail end of 2018. The Commerce Department said on Monday that construction spending declined 0.6 percent after an unrevised 0.8 percent increase in November.
GLOBAL MARKETS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • U.S. stock indexes closed lower while the dollar edged higher on Monday, as investors appeared to need some convincing the United States and China would reach a trade agreement and weaker-than-expected construction data did not help their mood. • Oil futures settled higher after OPEC ally Russia said it would ramp up supply cuts and oil traders also cited U.S.-China deal hopes though equity declines dampened gains.
FOREX	The dollar rose against a basket of major currencies on Monday on traders' bets that China and the United States are moving closer to a trade deal that would end sparring between the world's two biggest economies. The greenback gained for a fourth straight day, bolstered by the rise in U.S. bond yields with benchmark 10-year yields hitting one-month peaks last week. The gap between benchmark 10-year yields in the United States and Germany has widened to 257 basis points from 240 basis points at the beginning of the year. The United States and China appeared to be close to a deal that would roll back U.S. tariffs on at least $200 billion worth of Chinese imports, a source briefed on negotiations said on Sunday, but the timing and details for a deal remained unclear. The ICE dollar index was up 0.16 percent at 96.678. The Chinese yuan edged up 0.08 percent to 6.7097 to the dollar in offshore trade, close to last week's 7 1/2-month high of 6.6737. The euro was notably weaker against the greenback, falling 0.33 percent at 1.1331. Some analysts now expect a fresh round of bank funding at a European Central Bank meeting later this week that would boost the dollar. The dollar's increase was limited in the wake of comments from U.S. President Donald Trump, who on Saturday renewed his criticism of Federal Reserve Chairman Jerome Powell. Trump blamed the central bank's current monetary stance for boosting the dollar, which he believes is hurting U.S. exports. The greenback was hovering near a 10-week high of 112.08 yen reached on Friday. It was last at 111.73 yen, marginally lower on the day. Speculators increased their bullish dollar bets in mid-February to their highest level in four weeks, Commodity Futures Trading Commission data released on Friday showed.
GOLD	Gold dipped on Monday to its lowest in more than five weeks as the dollar and equities prices rose on optimism about a possible trade deal between the United States and China, while platinum shed 3 percent as investors took profits from a recent rally. The world's two largest economies appeared close to a deal that would roll back U.S. tariffs on at least $200 billion worth of Chinese goods, a source briefed on negotiations said on Sunday. Spot gold was down 0.5 percent at $1,286.94 per ounce at 2:15 p.m. EST (1915 GMT). During

	the session gold fell as low as $1,282.50, its lowest since Jan. 25. U.S. gold futures fell for the sixth straight session, settling down 0.9 percent at $1,287.5 per ounce. U.S. President Donald Trump and Chinese President Xi Jinping could reach a formal trade deal at a summit around March 27, the Wall Street Journal reported on Sunday. Global markets cheered a potential deal, as investors headed into riskier assets, dampening demand for gold. The dollar index measuring the greenback against other currencies rose to a 10-day high. Rising U.S. Treasury yields boosted demand for the currency. On Friday, holdings of SPDR Gold Trust, the world's largest gold-backed exchange-traded fund, fell 1.5 percent, the biggest daily percentage fall since December 2016. Platinum shed 2.5 percent to $835.35 an ounce. The metal remained up more than 5 percent for the year so far. Palladium, which hit an all-time peak of $1,565.09 last month, was down 1.2 percent at $1,527.01. Both metals are seeing a technical correction, with palladium still in overbought territory, analysts said, adding the dollar's advances also weighed. Bank of America Merrill Lynch lifted its forecast for palladium, expecting it to hit a key $2,000 level this year. The bank said it expects platinum to average $883 for the same period. Silver fell 0.8 percent to $15.08 per ounce, having earlier declined to a more than two-month low of $15.02.
OIL	Oil prices rose about 1 percent on Monday as the United States and China appeared closer to ending a trade war that has slowed global economic growth while OPEC ally Russia said it would ramp up its crude supply cuts. Gains were tempered by a drop in equity indexes, which weakened sentiment on oil markets. Brent crude futures settled at $65.67 a barrel, up 60 cents or 0.9 percent. U.S. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude futures ended 79 cents, or 1.4 percent, higher at $56.59 a barrel. Washington and Beijing were close to reaching a trade deal that would roll back U.S. tariffs on at least $200 billion worth of Chinese goods as China pledges to make structural economic changes and end retaliatory tariffs, a source briefed on negotiations said on Sunday. Russia, the biggest non-member ally of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, plans to speed up crude output cuts this month, Energy Minister Alexander Novak said. OPEC and its partners, known as OPEC+, will likely decide on a new output policy in June instead of during the group's April meeting in Vienna, OPEC sources told Reuters. OPEC+ is expected to extend supply cuts at its June meeting, but much depends on the extent of U.S. sanctions on OPEC members Iran and Venezuela, the sources said. Crude supply from OPEC hit a four-year low in February, a Reuters survey found, as top exporter Saudi Arabia reduced production more than it had agreed to, and as U.S. sanctions on Venezuelan oil took effect. The cuts have helped crude prices rally more than 20 percent so far this year despite surging U.S. production. U.S. crude oil stockpiles were seen rising last week, while refined products likely fell for a third consecutive week, a preliminary Reuters poll showed on Monday. Libyan state oil company (NOC) said production would resume at its 315,000 barrels per day El Sharara oilfield to regular output over the coming days. The opening of the field, which was closed in December when state guards and tribesmen seized it, will add to global crude supply.
