

Daily Outlook

GLOBAL STOCK INDEX

DJIA	Wall Street's main indexes fell on Thursday ahead of critical trade negotiations between the United States and China, though they pared losses significantly after U.S. President Donald Trump said reaching a deal this week was possible. U.S. stocks had fallen more than 1% earlier in the session but recovered much of those losses after Trump said he had received a "beautiful letter" from Chinese President Xi Jinping. Negotiators will meet at 5 p.m. EDT (2100 GMT) on Thursday, Trump said. They are set to continue talks through Friday. Still, the United States has not backed down from hiking tariffs on $200 billion worth of Chinese goods to 25% on Friday. Trump also said that paperwork had been initiated to levy 25% tariffs on a further $325 billion worth of Chinese goods. Even with the possibility of further tariffs going into effect, some investors remained optimistic that a trade agreement was within reach. That likely kept Thursday's declines in check, said John Stoltzfus, chief investment strategist at Oppenheimer Asset Management. The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 138.97 points, or 0.54%, to 25,828.36, the S&amp;P 500 lost 8.7 points, or 0.30%, to 2,870.72 and the Nasdaq Composite dropped 32.73 points, or 0.41%, to 7,910.59. The S&amp;P 500 index briefly slipped below its 50-day moving average, a closely watched indicator of momentum, during the session but ended above that level. Materials and technology stocks posted the steepest declines among the S&amp;P 500's sectors, dropping 0.8% and 0.7%, respectively. Shares of chipmakers, which get a large portion of the revenue from China, continued to slide, with the Philadelphia semiconductor index ending 1.2% lower. The index has fallen 6% so far this week and is on pace to post its biggest percentage weekly loss since December.
Nikkei	Japan's Nikkei fell for a fourth day on Thursday to end at its lowest since late March as investor caution prevailed ahead of the next round of Sino-U.S. trade talks. The Nikkei share average dropped 0.93 percent to 21,402.13, its lowest finish since March 29. The benchmark index has shed 4.3 percent after hitting a 2019 high on April 24. U.S. President Donald Trump has threatened to impose additional tariffs on Chinese goods beginning on Friday, while Beijing said it would retaliate if tariffs rise. Chinese Vice Premier Liu He is set for talks in Washington on Thursday and Friday with U.S. officials who have complained that Beijing has backtracked on earlier commitments. The broader Topix ended off 1.38 percent at 1,550.71. All but two of its 33 subsectors finished in negative territory. Cyclical stocks were particularly sold, with shippers and machinery manufacturers with high exposure to China underperforming.
Kospi	South Korea's KOSPI stock index fell for the fourth consecutive session and posted the biggest daily loss in 7 months on Thursday, as China-U.S. trade tensions escalate and investors move to safe-haven assets. The Korean won weakened, and the benchmark bond yield fell. The Seoul stock market's main KOSPI fell 66.00 points or 3.04 percent to 2,102.01 points. Foreigners were net sellers of 186.2 billion won worth of shares on the main board. South Korean stocks extended losses as U.S. President Donald Trump reiterated his threat to impose additional tariffs on Chinese goods; Investors are keen to know whether the United States will actually impose tariffs beginning this week, says Kim Ye-eun, an analyst from IBK Securities. Trump says China "broke the deal", will be paying if a deal not reached The won was quoted at 1,179.8 per dollar on the onshore settlement platform, 0.88 percent lower than its previous close at 1,169.4. In offshore trading, the won was quoted at 1,179.8 per U.S. dollar, down 0.6 percent from the previous day, while in one-year non-deliverable forward trading its one-month contract was quoted at 1,179.3 per dollar. MSCI's broadest index of Asia-Pacific shares outside Japan was down 1.63 percent, after U.S. stocks held off from making big moves. Japanese stocks fell 0.93 percent. The KOSPI has risen 2.99 percent so far this year, and rose 1.1 percent in the previous 30 trading sessions. The current price-to-earnings ratio is 12.10, the dividend yield is 1.28 percent and the market capitalisation is 1,242.04 trillion won.
Hang Seng &amp; Shanghai	➤ Shares in Hong Kong ended sharply lower on Thursday as investors worried over whether Chinese and U.S. trade negotiators will be able to salvage a trade deal before a looming deadline for fresh U.S. tariff hikes on Chinese goods. At the close of trade, the Hang Seng index was down 692.13 points or 2.39 percent at 28,311.07, its lowest close since March 8. The drop brought losses for the index to 5.9 percent for the week so far. The Hang Seng China Enterprises index fell 2.27 percent to 10,845.06.

Trading volumes surged, with about 3.00 billion Hang Seng index shares traded, roughly 176.8 percent of the market's 30-day moving average of 1.70 billion shares a day.

U.S. President Donald Trump said on Wednesday China "broke the deal" it had reached in trade talks with the United States, and vowed not to back down on imposing new tariffs on Chinese imports unless Beijing "stops cheating our workers."

The U.S. Trade Representative's office announced that tariffs on $200 billion worth of Chinese goods would increase to 25 percent from 10 percent at 12:01 a.m. (0401) GMT on Friday, right in the middle of two days of meetings between Chinese Vice Premier Liu He and Trump's top trade officials in Washington.

China's commerce ministry said Thursday that China is fully prepared to defend its interests in its trade war with the United States, but hopes Washington can resolve problems through dialogue instead of unilateral steps.

➤ China's major stock indexes fell on Thursday to close at 11-week lows, as trade tensions escalated after U.S. President Donald Trump vowed not to back down on imposing new tariffs on Chinese imports.

The blue-chip CSI300 index fell 1.9 percent, to 3,599.70, while the Shanghai Composite Index declined 1.5 percent to 2,850.95.

Both indexes ended at their lowest closing levels since February 22, 2019.

Beijing has announced it would retaliate if tariffs rise.

With all eyes on the trade talk progress, the market sentiment seemed not to be helped by data showing the country's factory-gate inflation hit a 4-month high.

Sectors fell across the board. Consumer and healthcare firms led the decline, as foreigners continued to retreat via the Stock Connect linking the mainland and Hong Kong.

Foreign buying of Chinese stocks has slowed significantly since March and turned negative in April and May, as investors worried that Beijing is turning more cautious about further stimulus amid signs that the economy is starting to stabilise.
